BANDANA FARMER SECURES $1,160 ON BOGUS CHECKS

Five Firms Swindled By Elmer
Nicholson in Whom They Had Confidence.

Used Name of Nicholson &
Brother, Merchants.

WAS MARRIED ONLY LAST WEEK

On the good reputation he had borne, Elmer Nicholson, a farmer about 35 years old, residing at Bandana, secured $1,160 on worthless checks from merchants in the city. Nicholson was married last week and came to the city Friday. Being on good terms with the merchants and having a good business standing, he went to the merchants and succeeded in having checks cashed. He left home last Saturday night and has not been heard from since. The merchants of the city went to Bandana yesterday and filed attachments on an implement store in which Elmer Nicholson owned an interest.

Checks were cashed by the following: B. Wells & Son, $260; J. A. Rudy & Sons, $150; John Oehl-schlegel, $210; A. S. Thompson, $275; and one bank in the city for $175. It is understood that the bank of Mayfield cashed a check for about $200, which will bring the total to practically $1,500. All of the checks were on the bank of Bandana, and were signed "Nicholson & Brother." A. S. Thompson drove to Bandana and filed an attachment on the implement store, but the bank at Bandana has a mortgage for $1,000 on the stock, which is valued at $2,000. The local dealers will have to wait until the bank has the first part.

It is understood that Nicholson was guilty of such conduct once before. He is of a good family, and the merchants can think of no excuse for his conduct. He was a prosperous man and was making money. Frequent trips were made to the merchants and his checks were always cashed. The police are on the lookout, but it is presumed that Nicholson has left.

Sales at Mayfield.

The tobacco association sold four hogheads of tobacco this week to the American Snuff company. Two went at $7 and two at $8.—Mayfield Messenger.

Tom Weaver Getting Well.

Cadiz, Ky., April 3.—Tom Weaver, the Canton negro who was shot by unknown parties at Golden Pond last week is reported much better and it is said that he will recover. His main trouble was from paralysis, caused by the ball striking his back bone when he was shot.

MASKED MEN TAKE A NEGRO OUT OF JAIL

Hopkinsville, Ky., April 3. (Special.)—George Tutt, a negro, was taken from the jail at Trenton, in Todd county by a body of masked men. He has not been seen since and is believed to have been lynched.

POSTAL INCREASE IS $3,566.12 THIS YEAR ABOVE LAST

During the postal year, which ended March 31, the Paducah postoffice shows an increase of $3,566.12 over last year. While the increase is not as great as the one shown last year, which was $6,117.74 over 1906, it is satisfactory to Postmaster F. M. Fisher, considering business conditions. In addition to the increase, one carrier was added to the force, and one clerk added. Last year Postmaster Fisher received an increase in salary, owing to the growth of business, and under the postal regulations the next increase will come when the postal receipts are $90,000. The receipts for the last quarter were $17,559.89. In a short time it is anticipated that the remodeling of the Paducah postoffice will be ordered. Congressman Ollie James is heartily in favor of the improvement, as well as the architect. Postmaster Fisher mailed Congressman James a picture of the building this week. The cost of putting a portico on the west entrance on Broadway, the building of a gable and the installation of new boxes is estimated at a cost of $12,500.

Mr. Taft Remembers Friends.

Secretary of War Taft evidently understands the friendly attitude of the Republicans of the First Congressional district toward him; for F. M. Fisher today received a personal letter from Mr. Taft, in which he takes occasion to say: "I cannot tell you how indebted I am to my friends of the First district of Kentucky, who succeeded in maintaining my interest at the convention."

EVANS ON BRIDGE OF CONNECTICUT WHEN FLEET SAILS

Paso-Robles, April 3.—Admiral Evans said today: "I will be on the bridge of the Connecticut when she plows through the Golden Gate. I have made up my mind to recover my health and resume command of the fleet or I will die in the attempt." He says he feels much better today.

BRITISH NAVAL DISASTER

Plymouth, Eng., April 3.—Because an officer misjudged the distance the torpedo boat destroyer "Tiger" was lost with 33 men in a collision with the cruiser Berwick last night during the maneuvers off the Isle of Wight. Four of the crew were rescued. The destroyer was sunk before the Berwick could man her boats.

THIEF STEALS TOGS

Some thief will have three East suits and three customers of M. Solomon, the tailor, 522 Broadway, may go without their Easter togs because of a visit paid to the tailor shop last night. Three coats and three pairs of trousers had been finished and were ready for the wearers when the thief made his unexpected appearance and played havoc. Mr. Solomon values the goods at $125. A gold watch fob and a gold bracelet were taken from W. Parish, a jeweler in the same building, and his loss will be $10. The thief entered through a rear window. The police have samples of the goods, and are watching the clothing stores.

Quiet Has Been Restored Around Hopkinsville is Opinion of Many Who Have Observed Conditions

Soldiers Had Beneficial Effect in Bringing about Reign of Law and Order in That Community.

Hopkinsville, Ky., April 3.—Many believe, and it is devoutly hoped that night riding in this immediate section is at an end. For several weeks now there have been no outbreaks and indications are that a more substantial and lasting state of quiet now exists than has been the case since last summer.

Several reasons contribute to this belief. First, if the motive given by the riders themselves, that they are operating in the interest of the tobacco growers' association, is the true one, there is very little, if any, material left for them to work on. The books of the association have been opened and practically every farmer in this and surrounding counties is now a member of the organization. Even before the membership books were opened, the Christian county committee authorized the committee-men and officials to accept the signatures of non-members to a pledge that they would join when the books were opened, at that time it being the order that no one could join until May 1. When this action was taken scores of independent farmers so signified their intention of joining the association and now that the books have been opened they are joining in full fellowship.

Doubtless the soldiers, who have been on duty throughout this section and who have patrolled, especially at night, and under secret orders, in every direction, have had a most beneficial effect in keeping down further trouble.

Nothing but praise has been heard of the conduct of these young mountaineers during their stay here. Their behavior has been beyond reproach and they have discharged their duties faithfully. Major Albrecht, who is in charge of the soldiers, has won himself a host of friends here. He is as silent as the sphinx when questioned about the work of his men, but that quality certainly has not lessened confidence in his military capacity.

EVELYN RETIRES

New York, April 3.—Evelyn Thaw is now in seclusion, having left the Hotel Prince George. Manager Dick refused to state whether he had asked her for her rooms, but it is known the notoriety cost him good patronage. It is believed yesterday's report that she would sail for Europe was given out to conceal her real movements. The suit for annulment of her marriage is set for Monday.

COUNTY JUDGE OF CALLOWAY CALLS FOR GOOD ORDER

Declares it is Time For Men to Defend Themselves Against Marauders.

Law and Order Leagues Should Be Organized.

WHAT THE RIDERS HAVE DONE

Barns burned—Glen Rogers, Brandon Hart, D. M. Hendrick. Residence burned—Dick Spann (also barns and stable). Men whipped—Al H. Perry, Rowland Norsworthy, Frank Mardis. Store burned—Clint Dinkard, at Kirksey.

Murray, Ky., April 3. (Special.)—County Judge Wells published in a local paper a lengthy statement explaining his course, and from the statement the following is taken:

"Violence was first done in the sending of threatening notes. This was followed by visits of armed and masked men under cover of darkness. This by the cruel whipping and beating of some of our citizens, to say nothing of the burning of barns and store houses. Following in the wake of all this there presents itself in sections of this county, especially in Liberty and Brinkley districts, a pitiable scene of hundreds of women and children and men paralyzed with fear, and naturally as the day follows the night comes the actions of those who would restore law and order by the crude means at their command. These conditions have reached a critical stage in this county. The raids are of almost nightly occurrence. No citizen is safe. Through all of these weeks, I, in company with my fellow officers, have been vigilant.

"I have scores of men summoned to tell what they know of these outrages. I find a state of paralysis. In many ways not proper here to mention we have attempted to run down these bands of lawless men. While we have information that might become important in the future, we have not as yet been able to procure sufficient evidence upon which to make an arrest. They will be found out; they will be punished.

"I call upon every good citizen to speak and act for law and order. Let those who stand for law and order be bold in their acts and utterances. I call upon our citizens to form law and order leagues in every section of the county. It is the duty of every citizen to defend his home against these midnight marauders by exercising his God given right of self-defense."

Home Mission Conference.

Bolivar, Tenn., April 3.—At the Memphis Conference Home Mission society the Rev. W. W. Adams, of Mayfield, Ky., conducted devotional exercises. Presiding Elder J. W. Blackard, of the Paducah district, spoke. The church extension board reported the receipt of eleven applications for assistance for parsonages. Six of these were recommended, as follows: West Murray, Paris district, $200; Hornbark, Union City district, $150; Sallito, Lexington district, $100; Belmont circuit, Brownsville district, $75; Paducah, Paducah district, $100; Middle avenue, Jackson district, $100. The Rev. J. W. Blackard, of the Paducah district, conducted beautiful devotional services at the night session.

Sales at Cadiz.

W. M. Hancock, of Hopkinsville representative of the American Snuff company, and J. W. Chestnut, an independent buyer from Clarksville bought fifty-three hogheads of association tobacco on the Cadiz market yesterday afternoon. The grades sold were mostly low grade tobacco, and the prices realized were very satisfactory, some ranging as high as fourteen cents per pound.—Record.

GROWERS TO SELL LOOSE LEAF WITH ONE ASSOCIATION

Owensboro, Ky., April 3.—(Special.)—At a meeting of growers of three tobacco associations here this morning an organization known as the Green River association was formed. It includes every grower in this district. They will pool their tobacco and sell the loose leaf. There formerly were three organizations.

WERE IN THE PARTY.

Three Ridgeway, Dave Galtner and Joe Schimmel, of Gilbertsville, were indicted by the special grand jury, on the charge of conspiring and banding together with others for the purpose of intimidating or threatening, etc. They all admit being in the crowd that visited Gilbertsville, but say they were forced into it, as were several other good citizens of Gilbertsville and vicinity. They gave bond.—Benton Tribune-Democrat.

POPULISTS WANT MONEY DIRECT TO PEOPLE FROM U. S.

St. Louis, April 3.—Populists in national convention today adopted a platform favoring all money to be issued by the government to the people; parcels post and postal savings bank, initiative and referendum, and government ownership of utilities. George A. Honner, of Jersey City, is permanent chairman.

Paid Enlisted Men.

Washington, April 3.—Lilly filed affidavits with the investigating committee, intending to prove improper practices by the Electric Boat company. Sam Ferguson, an enlisted man in the navy, swore he served on an Electric Boat company submarine, and that although paid by the government he and others were also paid by the company. The boat company had said it never paid enlisted men.

SAY HARRIMAN PLANS A LOAN.

Southern Pacific Officials Quoted as Asserting $50,000,000 Is Sum.

San Francisco, April 3.—The presence of four French bankers in the city leads Southern Pacific officials to believe E. H. Harriman plans to raise a loan of $50,000,000 on the unimpaired lines of the Union Pacific, says a local paper.

The visit of the French financiers is a sequel, it is believed, to the recent visit here of Sir Edgar Vincent, the English financier, and to the visit of Edward Noetjén, the French banker, a year ago.

Vincent, it is said, had practically agreed to take a $50,000,000 bond issue from Harriman and has invited Paris banks with which the visitors are connected to take a part-interest in it.

MEETINGS CLOSE AT KENTUCKY AV. CHURCH

After services for twelve days the meetings at the Kentucky Avenue Presbyterian church was brought to a close last night by the Rev. M. E. Chappel, of Princeton, who assisted the Rev. J. R. Henry. Twelve accessions were secured to the church membership, two of them last night, and many conversions resulted from the meetings. As the meeting progressed the interest became stronger but as the presbytery will meet in Marion next Tuesday, Drs. Chappel and Henry had to bring the meeting to a close. The new members will be received publicly Sunday morning, and the Rev. J. R. Henry will deliver an appropriate sermon on "Saving Faith."

County Authorities Have Evidence and Will Try to Indict and Convict Outlaws of Purchase County for Outrages.

MEN WHIPPED AND SENT INTO MURRAY TO WARN MIKE
GRIFFIN THAT PROPERTY WOULD BE DESTROYED
IF HE PERSISTED IN BUSINESS.

STATEMENT OF COUNTY JUDGE A. J. G. WELLS.

"I have direct information from the riders themselves that before the moon changes, they will swoop down on Murray and burn property and beat her citizens and continue to beat and bruise the farmers over the county and burn their property, because forsooth, they did not obey their mandate. Such is the condition that no man is safe. Men have been silent when they should have spoken. Let the press, the pulpit and the platform and all good citizens cry out against it."

(By Perry McLean.)

Murray, Ky., April 3.—Thirty-one mounted infantrymen, under Captain Rivers, of Middlesboro, the mountain soldier, who led the detail that captured Frank Ball, the noted desperado after his escape from the Middlesboro jail, are guarding Murray today, and beginning tonight, will scout the county. The arrival of the soldiers was a coup on the part of the county authorities, who now have complete control of the situation, and expect to indict and convict the leaders of the night riders in circuit court, which convenes April 13.

The soldiers rode into Murray, great, strapping six-foot mountain boys from Whitesburg and Middlesboro, armed with Krag-Jorgensen and big army Colt's. They were expected by train, and when the cavalcade galloped into town the terrorized citizens, thought it was the night riders keeping their promise, and the town was thrown into confusion for a few minutes.

The soldiers were exhausted with their trip and slept last night in a residence near the tobacco warehouses, while citizens stood guard the second consecutive night. The soldiers lost their way in the very heart of the night rider district and wandered for 22 hours after leaving Hopkinsville, with scarcely anything to eat. They ferried both the Cumberland and Tennessee rivers, and the word probably was spread abroad among the night riders that the soldiers were coming.

It is said that one county paper will denounce the county authorities for asking for troops, but there is an undercurrent of sentiment in favor of the restoration of law and order, and when the populace have been calmed and the outlaws thoroughly cowed, the action of County Judge A. J. G. Wells and Sheriff J. A. Edwards, two brave officials, with the other citizens, who advised the course, will be popularly and openly approved.

The Warning. Although night rider visitations have become so common the last two months that it is asserted that every independent tobacco planter in Calloway county has received notice to join the association or quit selling tobacco to independent buyers, the decision to call for troops came when open threat was made to attack Murray.

It was the psychological moment for the authorities to act, for they have the overwhelming sentiment of the county seat with them as a nucleus of public sentiment, and it is believed they did not act any too quickly. In fact, they telephoned Thursday morning for the soldiers to hurry up. Citizens had stood guard all the night before.

The first direct warning came Wednesday when Al Perry, residing southeast of Murray, rode into town and said he had been whipped by night riders just before daybreak and commanded to come to Murray and tell Mike Griffin that if he put up ten pounds more tobacco he would be whipped and his warehouse burned.

Griffin told him to report to the night riders that he was right here and for them to come on at once, as he intended to put up all the tobacco he had bought.

Citizens feared the warning was sincere, and when on Thursday morning D. M. Hendrick, a well known independent planter, came to town and bore a like message a hurry call for soldiers was put in.

Hendrick wasn't whipped, because he was on guard against an attack. He had been warned not to deliver his tobacco, but he did anyway. Early Thursday morning about 50 men rode of his house, but his son, Smoot Hendrick, and his son-in-law, P. D. Daniels, were at his house and all were heavily armed. The night riders contented themselves with threats against Hendrick and against Mike Griffin. The three rode into Murray and warned the authorities.

Last night it was reported that 150 men were organizing at Kirksey, in the heart of the troubled district, to march on Murray, but it is believed the knowledge that troops are here reached them.

Since January the county papers have contained almost weekly letters from men, who had been warned, that they would join the association, but no serious trouble broke out until February 22, when the barn of Brandon Hart, near Kirksey, was burned by masked men, who fired shots. A few nights later the store of Clint Dinkard, at Kirksey, was burned by an incendiary.

February 21 Clint Stewart, a farmer, of the Pottertown section, was called out by 60 men and warned that he must join the association. He and H. S. Morgan published cards in the Murray Ledger, declaring their intention to pledge their tobacco.

March 9 Moses Thornton was warned that he must raise tobacco and put it in the association. He had told them before that he would quit raising tobacco.

The most atrocious crime was the burning of the home of Richard

MME. GOULD TO WED DE SAGAN

Lawyers Tell Her She Will Not Lose Half Estate.

Breach With Family Too Much for Her Nerves—Brother Has Employed Detectives.

LOOK UP PRINCE'S RECORD

New York, April 2.—Mme. Anna Gould has finally decided to marry Prince Helle de Sagan, with or without the approval of her family. It was learned from an undoubted source that she would replace the title of countess—which she lost when she divorced Count Boni de Castellane—with the title of princess by a marriage with her first husband's cousin.

She has broken absolutely with her brothers and sisters and will occupy rented apartments at the Hotel St. Regis until she can arrange to return to France. Prince Helle will sail on April 9, according to his present plans. Mme. Gould and the De Castellane children will follow on an early steamer. The wedding will take place in France as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made.

Mme. Gould does not believe she will have to sacrifice one-half of the fortune she inherited from her father, Jay Gould, the famous railroad manipulator, when she marries without the consent of a majority of the executors. She has taken legal advice and is satisfied that the provisions of her father's will do not apply to a second marriage.

The little heiress was confined to her new apartment, suffering from nervousness and threatened with bronchitis.

Society considered it significant that Mrs. Frank Gould, the young wife of Mme. Gould's youngest brother, was the only member of the family who called upon her. Mrs. Frank Gould came late in the afternoon and remained but a short while. It was said that Miss Helen M. Gould tried three times to talk with her sister over the telephone, but was put off with the excuse that her sister could not leave her bed.

Prince Helle did not call at the St. Regis. Mme. Gould, however, had his flowers, his notes and several telephone messages.

While expressing sorrow that Mme. Gould was threatened with bronchitis, Prince Helle was in exceedingly good humor over the turn which affairs had taken.

"I am going back to Paris," was the greeting he gave a reporter who saw him last night.

"Does that mean that your suit for Mme. Gould's hand will be postponed?"

The prince smiled a bland smile. "I shall probably sail on April 9, on La Provence," he said. "A family that I know and like are going over on that steamer."

"Mme. Gould will return to Paris shortly, taking the children with her. There is no reason why she should remain here. Her family is not behaving nicely toward her. M. Gould is inclined to be dictatorial. She will return to Paris and freedom."

"Mme. Gould can not live in this country, at least not in the winters. It was foolish for her to come. We feared she would be sick and now she is quite ill."

"She has moved from Miss Helen Gould's home to the St. Regis, where she has her own apartment," said the prince. "Her children have moved, and the abbe who is instructing them has moved. Is that what you Americans call a break de famille?"

It was learned that George J. Gould had employed detectives in Europe to trace Prince Helle's record, and particularly to determine whether or not his sister and the prince were already married. Capt. Donald Todd, Mr. Gould's confidential agent, is said to have gone abroad to start the search. The report of the prince's past was a long one, and it is said George Gould used it to strengthen the opposition of the other executors of the Gould estate.

CHANCELLOR DAY

EXONERATED BY ARBITRARY
DICTUM OF BISHOP MOORE.

Rules That No Signature of Any Person
Defamed Is Attached to Charges.

New York, April 3.—Applauded Bishop David H. Moore, presiding at the 109th annual session of the New York Methodist Episcopal conference when he ruled out of the court the charges of defamation of character brought against Rev. Dr. James R. Day, chancellor of Syracuse University.

The charges were brought by Rev. George A. Cooke, of Brandon, Vt., a member of the Troy conference, who charged Dr. Day with defaming Theodore Roosevelt in a book. Five counts were found in the charges under the single heading "Defamation of Character." Dr. Day made no effort to answer the charges.

Bishop Moore said:
"I rule these charges absolutely out of court."

"I wish to explain my decision. I rule these charges out on the ground, in the first place, that there is attached to them no signature of any man in the conference nor of any man who has been slandered nor his representative."

"The general conference of our church has already decided this matter."

Bishop Moore in dismissing the charges, said he regarded the complaint against Chancellor Day as a direct attack upon free speech and free press. At the conclusion of his address, when he asked, "Shall the character of James R. Day be passed?" the hand of every one of the several hundred delegates in the big hall shot up and another round of applause filled the auditorium.

San Francisco, April 3.—Abraham Ruef sustained three adverse rulings today. Judge Dooling denied Ruef's motion for a transfer of the case. The district court of appeals denied Ruef's petition for a writ of prohibition restraining Judge Dooling from proceeding with the trial and also refused his application for a writ of mandate compelling Judge Dooling to transfer the case to another judge.

An effort to renew charges against Professor Borden P. Bowne, of Boston University, and Rev. Dr. James M. Buckley, editor of the Christian Advocate, was made by Rev. George A. Cooke, but failed. Rev. Dr. Cooke then began the formulation of new charges against the two preachers.

MAINE STATESMAN DECLARES
SECRETARY TO BE CHOICE.

Republican Editors of Maryland Are Unanimous for Secretary of War for President.

Washington, April 3.—"I am warmly in favor of the nomination of Mr. Taft. If he is elected he would, in my opinion, make an ideal president. He has held many public positions and has filled every one of them to the entire satisfaction of the country. This experience eminently fits him for this great office."

This is the opinion of William P. Frye, president pro tem, of the senate, expressed in a letter to one of his constituents, O. P. Clason, of Gardiner, Me. Mr. Clason wrote Senator Frye, asking him to indicate his preference for the Republican nomination and the propriety of instructing the delegates from Maine to the convention. In his answer Senator Frye declared that the people should declare by resolution their preference for a candidate.

That Maine will vote solidly for Taft in the national convention is indicated by reports which the friends of Secretary Taft have received from former Governor Hill and other members of the state.

The Republican Editorial Association of Maryland has gone on record unanimously in favor of the nomination of Mr. Taft for president. This action was taken at a meeting in Baltimore.

About a Reliable Medicine.

We want the people of Paducah to know that we believe the most valuable cod liver oil preparation—the best tonic reconstructor, health restorer and strength creator known to medicine today is Vinol.

Vinol is not a patent medicine as everything it contains is named on the label of every bottle. We guarantee Vinol contains besides tonic iron all of the medical, curative and body-building elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers, but without a drop of the useless oil to clog the system, upset the stomach and retard its work. This is why Vinol is so far superior to old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions.

Vinol is guaranteed by over five thousand leading druggists of the United States to create health and strength for old people, weak, sickly women and children, nursing mothers, and after a severe sickness, and for hacking coughs, chronic colds, bronchitis and throat and lung troubles.

It was possible for decent men outside of Kentucky at the beginning to feel a lurking, shame-faced sympathy for even the mildly disorderly features of this campaign. But when the "night riders" shoot down the owner of a little sixty-acre hill farm at his own doorstep in the middle of the night, after he has promised to accede to all their demands, in cold blood and without excuse, they put themselves in the class of common murderers who ought to be hounded out of every civilized community.—Cincinnati Times-Star

WHAT IS THE "KNACK" OF DRESSING WELL?

THE so-called "knack" of dressing well is in fact the simple act of wearing good clothes. The impression prevails that this "knack" is vouchsafed to but a favored few who inherit it. The idea is ridiculous. Any man may acquire it who will persuade himself to recognize the value of quality. One cannot acquire it who pins his faith to price first and leaves all other considerations to care for themselves. The clothes handled by this institution were founded on quality first, and after their value had been determined the price was fixed accordingly. So quality comes first, as it must in everything—and quality is the true index to purchasing economy.

This quality feature is apparent at a glance—it cannot be mistaken at any time. It stands out in bold relief, and has always been one of the shining characteristics of our store.

The spring display of Roxboro and other clothes reveals these truths in all their beauty, and it is well worth a half hour of any gentleman's time to come here and review the outlay in anticipation of his spring and summer wants.

Daily Thought.

Every temptation is a blessing if we face it instead of flinching with it.

THE DAWN OF REASON.

Sheriff Edwards and County Judge Wells, of Calloway county, are candidates for registry in the list of desirable citizens, and they are displaying qualities that show their fitness for offices of trust.

Slowly the law is coming uppermost. It would be a sad state of affairs, if it should not. Kentucky could have no right to be a state if the law did not prevail; the United States government would not be justified in permitting Kentucky to remain a constituent unit of the nation. If an organized mob could burn the barns of other people, who did not agree with them or obey their behest, whip other people and murder other people, and confiscate their property in Kentucky without hindrance of the law, how much better would Kentucky be than the Philippine Islands? If we should permit this outlawry to continue, we would be displaying just that degree of civilization, of which we complain in the Philippines. A man can own property, live and take part in the government in the Philippine Islands, as long as nobody cares to molest him. He can do that anywhere; but in some parts of the Philippine group and in some parts of this commonwealth a certain class of people have decided that unless the community as a whole conforms to their whimsical ideas of things, they will burn and whip and slay.

Intelligent, grown up men ought to know that such a course cannot continue in Kentucky. Some representatives of the press, we are sorry to say, intimidated by hoping to gain some temporary popularity, have kept silent, or condoned the offenses against the law of God and man; and we are more sorry still to say, that if any one element could have maintained the proper public sentiment and prevented the spread of the anarchy it was the free press of the state. Some of its members have been untrue to their trust.

The people know what publications lent sympathy to the cause of murder and arson, or failed to raise a protest when liberty sank crushed beneath the weight of anarchy and the rights of freemen were nullified by fiends who rode in the night time and wore masks. And when the madness had passed and the dawn of reason returned, the people will remember who it was upheld the law through it all, and know that fearless papers and patriotic officials braved the tyranny of the mob, while smoke and flame and red blood stained the commonwealth from one end to the other.

O, the price Kentucky will have to pay for this orgy of crime—in population and wealth and fame! It has already cost her thousands of citizens, and millions of dollars and a score of lives. Palliation will avail nothing in this hour. We must arise to the might of free manhood and throttle this monster of lawlessness, lest it devour us.

There never was the least excuse under heaven for the crimes of the night rider. It is the hideous result of some man's rapacious greed. It was a crime against the law of God and man.

erge of an administration that believed in catering to organized votes. The death knell of night riding was sounded when A. E. Willson was elected governor. When it is all over and pray heaven that time will be soon, the citizens of Kentucky will realize that the governor has solved the riddle of the hour; met stealth with stealth, and lead with lead; fought the legions of darkness in their own hour at their own game, and won.

Kentucky must be redeemed!

TAFT THE NOMINEE.

It has been patent for several weeks that opposition to a candidate favoring the Roosevelt policies has collapsed, says the Philadelphia North American. Day after day we have delayed laying the true situation before our readers so as not to interfere with any movement that might be made to bring about the nomination of Knox. But to remain silent longer would be to do to Senator Knox no good, while doing to ourselves the injustice of self-stultification.

There is nothing today more humanly certain than the nomination of William H. Taft, on June 16, at Chicago.

This is shown not so much by tabulation of the delegates already elected—though that in itself constitutes fairly positive proof—as by the knowledge we have that a majority of the members of "favorite son" delegations are for Taft and would have declared for him if he had not opposed the invasion of those states.

In the second ballot—if there be a second ballot—should the leaders of delegations from those states attempt to hold the delegates from Taft, their ranks will look like a frame house immediately after being struck by lightning. But the chances are that the leaders will be struggling at the moment to be among the first to "make it unanimous."

Pennsylvania's duty in the matter is clear: Senator Knox should, and will, receive the sixty-eight votes of the state. The knowledge that Pennise has used the Knox candidacy to aid himself is not sufficient reason for not paying to Senator Knox this well-merited compliment.

IOWA.

Iowa emphasizes the prediction of John Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, that "the man the 85,000,000 people will elect president of the United States will be William Howard Taft." Just as the Iowa Republicans emphasize the fact that true revision of the tariff can come only through the maintenance of the cardinal principle of protection, readjustment of rates to come only "when conditions so change that the public interests demand their alteration." The tariff plank of the Iowa Republicans in these words, says the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune:

"The Republican party of Iowa indorses the declaration of the Ohio Republican platform of this year in behalf of 'revision of the tariff by a special session of the next congress, insuring the maintenance of the true principle of protection by imposing such custom duties as will equal the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad, together with a reasonable profit, to the end that without excessive duties American manufacturers, farmers, producers and wage earners may have adequate protection.'"

From the time of the call of the Iowa convention it was plain that the name of one candidate—and only one—would be presented for the consideration of the delegates in keeping with the sentiment of the Republican party in every state, and in every community in every state. It is a sentiment prevailing in states which have instructed for other candidates. New York has instructed for Hughes, but New York Republicans are for Taft. Pennsylvania will support Knox, but, as Mr. Dalzell expressed it, while Pennsylvania will instruct for Knox, Pennsylvania is for Taft. It is not remarkable, therefore, that it was Republicans instructed emphatically for William H. Taft, urging on the delegates at large and on the district delegates to use their united influence in support of the Taft candidacy. That means not only to vote for him as representatives from Iowa Republicans, but to do missionary work if missionary work should be needed. It will not be Ohio, Nebraska, Iowa and Oklahoma point the way to be followed because the Republican masses of every state have so decreed.

CHAPTER XIII.

I CAME ON deck one morning at about 4 bells to find the entire ship's company afoot. Even the doctor was there. Every body was gazing eagerly at a narrow, mountainous island lying slate colored across the early morning.

We were as yet some twenty miles distant from it and could make out nothing but its general outline. The latter was sharply defined, rising and falling to a highest point one side of the middle. Over the island and raggedly clasping its sides hung a cloud, the only one visible in the sky.

I joined the afterguard.

"You see?" the doctor was exclaiming. "It is as I had said. The island is there. Everything is as it should be." He was quite excited.

Percy Darrow, too, was shaken out of his ordinary calm.

"The volcano is active," was his only comment, but it explained the ragged cloud.

"You say there's a harbor?" inquired Captain Selover.

"It should be on the west end," said Dr. Schermerhorn.

Captain Selover drew me one side. He, too, was a little aroused.

"Now, wouldn't that get you?" he squeaked. "Doctor runs up against a Norwegian bum who tells him about a volcanic island and gives his bearings. The island ain't on the map at all. Doctor believes it and makes me lay my course for those bearings. And here's the island! So the bum's story was true. I'd like to know what the rest of it was." His eyes were shining.

"Do we anchor or stand off and on?" I asked.

"Captain Selover turned to grip me by the shoulder.

"I have orders from Darrow to get to a good berth, to land, to build shore quarters and to snug down for a stay of a year at least."

We stared at each other.

"Joyous prospect," I muttered. "Hope there's something to do there."

The morning wore, and we rapidly approached the island. It proved to be utterly precipitous. The high rounded hills sloped easily to within a hundred feet or so of the water and then fell away abruptly. Where the earth ended was a fantastic filigree border, like the fancy paper with which our mothers used to line the pantry shelves. Below the white surges hung themselves against the cliffs with a wild abandon. Thousands of sea birds wheeled in the eddies of the wind, thousands of ravens perched on the slopes. With our glasses we could make out the heads of seals fishing outside the surf and a ragged belt of kelp.

When within a mile we put the helm up and ran for the west end. A bold point we avoided far out lest there should be outlying ledges. Then we came in sight of a broad beach and pounding surf.

I was ordered to take a surf boat and investigate for a landing and an anchorage. The swell was running high. We rowed back and forth, puzzled as to how to get ashore with all the freight it would be necessary to land. The ship would lie well enough, for the only open exposure was broken by a long reef over which we could make out the seas tumbling. But inshore the great waves rolled smoothly, swiftly, then suddenly fell forward as over a ledge and spread with a roar across the yellow sands. The fresh winds blew the spume back to us. We conversed in shouts.

"We can surf the boat," yelled Thrackles, "but we can't land a load."

That was my opinion. We rowed slowly along, parallel to the shore and just outside the line of breakers.

I don't know exactly how to tell you the manner in which we became aware of the cove. It was as nearly the instantaneous as can be imagined. One minute I looked ahead on a cliff as unbroken as the side of a cabin; the very next I peered along the length of a cove fifty fathoms long by about ten wide, at the end of which was a gravel beach. I cried out sharply to the men. They were quite as much astonished as I. We backed water, watching closely. At a given point the cove and all trace of its entrance disappeared. We could only just make out the line where the headlands dissolved into the background of the cliffs and that merely because we knew of its existence. The blending was perfect.

We rowed in. The water was still. A faint ebb and flow whispered against the tiny gravel beach at the end. I noted a practicable way from it to the top of the cliff and from the cliff down again to the sand beach. Everything was perfect. The water was a beautiful light green, like semi-opaque glass, and from the indistinctness of its depths waved and beckoned, rose and disappeared with indescribable grace and deliberation long feathery sea growths. In a moment the bottom abruptly shallowed. The motion of the boat toward the beach permitted us to catch a hasty glimpse of little fish darting, of big fish turning, of yellow sand and some vivid color. Then came the grate of gravel and the scraping of the boat's bottom on the beach.

We jumped ashore eagerly. I left the men very reluctant and ascended a natural trail to a high sloping down over which blew the great trades. Grass sprang knee high. A low hill rose at the back. From below the fall of the cliff came the pounding of surf. I walked to the edge. Various ledges sees. Against one of them was a wreck not so very old, head on, her afterworks gone. I recognized the name Golden Horn and was vastly astonished to find her here against this unknown island. Far up the coast I could see with the surges dashing up like the explosion of shells and the cliffs and the rampart of hills grown with grass and cactus. A bold promontory terminated the coast view to the north, and behind it I could glimpse a more fertile and wooded country. The sky was partly overcast by the volcanic mark. It fled before the trades, and the red sun alternately blazed and clouded through it.

As there was nothing more to be seen here I turned above the hollow of our cove, skirted the base of the hill and so down to the beach.

It occupied a wide semicircle where the hills drew back. The flat was dry and grown with thick, coarse grass. A stream emerged from a sort of canyon on its landward side. I tasted it, found it sulphurous and a trifle worse than lake water. A little nearer the cliff, however, was a clear, cold spring from the rock, and of this I had a satisfying drink. When I arose from my knees I made out an animal on the hill crest looking at me, but before I could distinguish its characteristics it had disappeared. (To be continued in next issue.)

BRYAN BUSY

GREETING FRIENDS AND MAKING SPEECHES AT DES MOINES

Tells About Invitation to Attend New York Democratic Club Banquet.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 3.—Bryan was kept busy from the time of his arrival in Des Moines early yesterday until late at night, making speeches, greeting prominent Democrats who came from every part of the state, and holding conferences. His speeches during the day were non-political. His first address was made at St. Joseph's academy, then followed in quick succession addresses at Des Moines college, and Drake University during the morning. After luncheon he spoke to the Bryan volunteers, to the students of East High school, and to great crowds in the University church of Christ.

He was greeted with great crowds wherever he appeared, and the demonstrations of college men were especially enthusiastic.

Last evening's banquet was attended by several hundred Democrats, a hundred or more from out of the state. Bryan's reception was a remarkable one, even for friendly Iowa, and the result of his visit has been an injection of new enthusiasm into the Democrats of what has been considered a hopelessly Republican state.

While in Des Moines, Bryan put a quietus on the speculation as to whether the New York national Democratic club had intended that he should speak or maintain discreet silence at the banquet to be given there April 13, by wiring a withdrawal of his acceptance of the invitation to attend. He will not be present and therefore cannot speak.

In view of the discussion which had arisen as to whether the invitation was to make a speech or merely to be present, Bryan said he felt that it would be embarrassing both to the club and to himself to be present in either capacity, and therefore he wired President Fox, of the club, that he withdrew his acceptance of the invitation. To be present he would run the risk of being called upon for an extemporaneous speech and to refuse or to accept would be alike subject to criticism and the easiest solution was not to be present at all.

This morning at opening exercise of the High School John G. Miller, Sr., gave a short address to the students on the law as a profession. This address closed the series of talks for the week, but Professor Sugg expects to have the other professions represented next week.

Lieutenant Richard Donovan, U. S. army, will address the students of the High school Wednesday morning on "Life at West Point." Miss Adah Brazelton has arranged a pleasing program for the morning, and the talk by Mr. Donovan will be of especial interest to the students.

Alexander McComb Campau, Who Sold Belle Isle to Detroit, Passes Away.

Detroit, April 3.—Alexander McComb Campau, an aged resident of Detroit, whose ancestry runs back to the settlement of the city by Cadillac, and who sold Belle Isle to the municipality in 1878, died Wednesday morning. He was 84 years old. Mr. Campau inherited Belle Isle through both sides of his family. His father bought it from the father of his wife. He inherited in the same way the McDougal farm, which extends from Clinton street to Gratiot avenue, along McDougal street for about a mile. It was a holding which came directly from the crown.

ALLEGRETTI'S CANDIES

That's a name to conjure with among the lovers of sweet things. Only a perfect blending of the purest ingredients could possibly produce such deliciously toothsome dainties. There is a certain distinctive—but there's no use trying to describe the flavor of Allegretti's. Try it and see.

There are five size boxes—1/2, 1, 2, 3, 5 pounds—but the price is uniform—

Woman's Club Has Interesting Meetings.

The Woman's club met yesterday afternoon in regular session at the club house. The reports of the various departments were of more than usual interest. Mrs. Henry Overby, chairman of the Educational department, read a letter from Prof. W. H. Sugg, principal of the High school, asking the co-operation of the Woman's club in emphasizing the importance of boys remaining in school until graduated. Mrs. Sugg further this is having a series of practical talks from prominent business and professional men, emphasizing the need of education in all lines of work. Miss Webb, chairman of the Art department, presented a letter from Professor J. A. Carnegie, superintendent of the city schools, thanking the Woman's club for their cordial co-operation in the recent Traveling Art Exhibit, and the help accorded by the several departments. Miss Webb made complimentary reference to the interest and knowledge displayed by the smallest pupils of the schools, who visited the exhibit, and the excellent training it showed in the study of the pictures. Miss Adine Morton, chairman of Cluses, reported the establishment of boxes for trash at Oak Grove cemetery, through the co-operation of Mayor Smith and Sexton Mattison. They will be placed about the cemetery, taking the place of the old one outside of the gates, which was inconveniently located, as well as unsightly. The Cluses department also reported a letter received from the chairman of Cluses of the newly-organized Women's club at Owensboro, asking information about work projected and accomplished, which the local club felt to be a high compliment.

Mrs. James A. Rudy, president of the club, made a delightful little talk on the mid-year meeting at Harrodsburg. It was a resume of the fine work that had been accomplished by the women of the federation this year, as gleaned from the reports of the various federation chairmen made at the meeting.

Announcement was made of the prospective visit of Dr. Enos Mills, of the U. S. government forestry work to Paducah this month. Dr. Mills will deliver 2 lectures, afternoon and evening, under the auspices of the Civic department and local Forestry association. He spoke last June at the Federation meeting at Shelbyville and made a delightful impression on the Paducah women who heard him there.

The committee on program and year-book for next year were appointed as follows: Mrs. Henry Overby, chairman; Miss Mattie Fowler, Miss Elizabeth Sinnott, Miss Frances Gould.

The open meeting under the auspices of the Educational department was one of the most delightful of the series. Mrs. Henry Overby, the chairman, presided most happily. The address on "Kentucky" by Edward Mitchell, of the Paducah High school, abounded in state pride and enthusiasm and was splendidly delivered. Lieutenant Richard Donovan made a clever talk on "Life at West Point," that was full of interesting data, touches of humor and patriotic pride, and he was quite the West Pointer in military bearing. The platform was appropriately decorated with the nation's flag and that of Kentucky, side by side were the pennants of the Paducah High school and the Army. An attractive musical program was featured by Mrs. J. A. Goodson, of Dixon, Tenn. Miss Caroline Hanu, Miss Ruby Lamb and Mrs. Overby, by request. A large audience testified interest and appreciation of the "Students' afternoon."

Crabbe, superintendent of public instruction, has been stricken with typhoid fever and lies at his home in this city dangerously ill. His friends are alarmed about his condition, and as the crisis of the disease has not yet been reached, fears are entertained as to the ultimate result. During his illness the work in the office of state superintendent is being conducted by Prof. T. W. Vinson and J. P. Culbertson. Before Prof. Crabbe was taken sick he had outlined his plans for the school work this year, and his secretary has but to carry out those plans.

Kentucky Governor Ostensibly There to Argue Case Before New York Court of Appeals.

Albany, N. Y., April 3.—Governor Augustus E. Willson, of Kentucky, who is in Albany to argue a case before the court of appeals, was the guest at a dinner last night by Governor Hughes at the executive mansion. The presence of Governor Willson in Albany came as a surprise to Governor Hughes, who immediately made arrangements for the dinner. The guests included Governor Willson, former Governor Hill, Lieutenant-Governor Chanler, Chief Judge Cullen, of the court of appeals; Speaker Wadsworth, Chairman Stevens, of the up-state public service commission; Assemblyman Merritt, Republican leader in the lower house; Public Service Commissioner Basset, of Brooklyn; Austin G. Fox and Mr. Canfield, of New York and Pennsylvania, and Mr. Baker, of Kentucky.

NIGHT RIDERS

Spann, of Beech Grove, not far from Kirksey, while his family were asleep. They barely escaped with their lives. The tobacco barn and stable were also burned at the same time.

Last week Rowland Norsworthy, 60 years old, of the Kirksey section, was whipped. He is in Murray today, and says he would rather be killed than whipped again.

Frank Mardis, of Hico, was also whipped.

The Visitations.

D. M. Hendrick, the last man visited by the night riders, has suffered indignities at their hands before. A fine barn was burned and he was warned not to deliver any more of his tobacco to independent dealers. The barn was burned and he was warned on Saturday night. Fortunately the night riders mistook an empty barn for the one holding his fine crop of tobacco and the next morning being Sunday he and his family loaded their tobacco on wagons and standing guard over it all that night with loaded shotguns, delivered it to Dows & Swann at Murray the next day. This probably called for the second attack Wednesday night, but after they had reached his place they changed their minds and did not whip Hendrick or any of his boys.

Rowland Norsworthy, a well known farmer of the northwestern portion of the county, near Kirksey, was also visited recently and terribly beaten by a masked mob. He is a very delicate man about 60 years old and for several years has been almost an invalid.

A. H. Perry, who was whipped about the same time, was beaten with heavy branches of a hickory tree, and in telling of his wrongs, to the county judge, he said that several times he thought his legs had been broken so heavy were the blows.

In addition to the whippings and warnings stated above Mr. John Wesley Wyatt, a reputable citizen of near Kirksey, has reported to the county officers that a general notice signed night riders has been posted on the door of Thompson's school house warning all non-association men to put their tobacco in the association or it would be burned. Following this the next night a notice, signed "Independents" was posted stating that "if non-association property is burned hell is only half begun and the property of the association farmer will suffer."

L. E. Radford, a merchant of Kirksey, who advertised his fertilizer under an inscription "to night riders and association farmers," was given a curt notice to "take out the ad, which he promptly did, though he had paid for it two months in advance.

The County Judge.

In defense of his position in calling on the state troops for protection Judge Wells spoke feelingly this morning, realizing that perhaps his action had killed his political aspirations for the time being at least, the judge said that he intended to use every power at his command to stop the ruthless whipping of defenseless men and the destruction of property. "The troops are not here for the purpose alone of protecting the tobacco warehouses, they are here to stop the reign of terror in the county, where men are being whipped nightly," said the judge. "I have listened to these reports until I can stand it no longer and no matter what the consequences I will do what I believe is my duty."

Letter of Kaiser To Lord Tweedmouth

Berlin, April 3.—The publication in a Munich journal, which is used twice a month, of what it claims is a copy of the letter which Emperor William sent to Lord Tweedmouth, first lord of the British admiralty, which created a sensation both in Germany and in England, and a copy of a letter from Lord Tweedmouth in reply, created considerable commotion in Berlin today.

The foreign office declared that the letters published were not copies of the originals and the official news agency pronounced the publication an "April fool joke."

Despite these declarations, the impression prevails in well-informed circles that both copies were authentic.

Letter Is Harmless.
As reproduced, the emperor's letter accuses Sir John Fisher of trying to stir up distrust, apparently between the two nations, though there is no attempt in it to influence Great Britain's naval policy. It was prompted by a published letter of Lord Escher, who is a member of the entourage of King Edward, in which he said:

"There is not a man in Germany, from the Emperor downward, who would not welcome the fall of Sir John Fisher."

Sir John Fisher is senior naval lord of the British admiralty. In referring to this statement, according to the letter as published, the emperor says:

"Instead of allaying distrust, like me and you, he rekindles it, and that at the bedside of gentlemen of the Maritime League, which has already shown signs of distrust. You know yourself, my dear lord, that I am the first person to take a light in the difficulties of the sea, and you know how I think about German machine guns against Tirpitz."

Explains German Aims.
Admiral Von Tirpitz is secretary of the German admiralty. "Our sea power," continues the

PISTOL FIGHT IN COURT ROOM

Man Found Guilty of Arson Opens Fire.

Detective Killed Outright and Others Wounded—Shootist, a Bad Man, Himself Wounded.

AIMED AT THE PROSECUTOR.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 3.—Found guilty of the charge of arson, Henry F. McDonald, in the circuit court room shot and killed William E. Swyer, seriously wounded other officers and was himself seriously wounded.

The shooting followed the announcement of the verdict of the jury before which McDonald had been tried on a charge of dynamiting stores and a church in Sandford last year.

When the jury reported its verdict McDonald jumped to his feet and drew a revolver. He fired at Prosecution Attorney Cooper, but missed. Cooper dodged, and McDonald directed his fire at the officers around the table. Without an opportunity to defend himself, Detective Swyer was shot down. Almost in an instant police officers and deputy sheriffs in the court room drew revolvers and opened fire on McDonald.

The convicted man fell with half a dozen bullets in his body. Harvey V. Jones, superintendent of police, was shot in the side. Deputy Sheriff Wellman sustained a wound in the chin and Sylvester Doyle, city court bailiff was shot in the leg, and another shot struck a bystander. The shooting was the climax of a sensational trial which had been bitterly contested. McDonald was known to be a bad man, but had been permitted his liberty during the trial.

At the hospital it was said that McDonald would recover.

At the first shot the jurors jumped to their feet. Judge J. T. Waller, one of the attorneys tried to stop McDonald, but his action only hindered the officers, who were afraid of hitting him when they shot at McDonald. Judge Crane, who presided through out the trial, rose from his chair and ran to the railing by the jury. The spectators were rushing out and con-

HE VISITED SOME PATIENTS.
(Chattanooga, Tenn., Daily News.)
A representative of the News has just returned from a very successful visit to California.

Concerning the reports that the long sought cure for Bright's Disease has been discovered, he took special pains to find out the truth of the matter, and came back fully convinced.

One lady, the wife of a San Francisco editor, not only told of her husband's remarkable recovery after physicians had given him up, but she related of several they told of it who had recovered. One case was particularly interesting. It was a case of Bright's Disease in which the young man was so impressed that nothing could be done that he had to be tricked into taking the new specific. Each time a dose was administered a tablespoonful of his old medicine was secretly disposed of, thus allaying suspicions. To complicate matters as the young man recovered, the physician became elated, thinking he had discovered a cure for Bright's Disease. It was not until the patient was so well along toward recovery that there was no uncertainty about it that the whole plot was disclosed. One of San Francisco's pioneer druggists also confirmed his own recovery and made the astonishing statement that he had given it to between 40 and 50 and only knew of a few failures.—Chattanooga Daily News.

fusion" was everywhere. Persons in the offices below heard the shots, rushed to the upper story and they collided with the people leaving the court room.

A crowd of about 1,000 collected around the building in a few minutes, and the police had to be called to prevent the angry people forcing their way into the court house. Some of the persons said McDonald's brother had a revolver and also fired with the brother. Officers are looking for the brother.

The Jumping Off Place.

"Consumption had me in its grasp; and I had almost reached the jumping off place when I was advised to try Dr. King's New Discovery; and I want to say right now, it saved my life. Improvement began with the first bottle, and after taking one dozen bottles I was a well and happy man again," says George Moore, of Grimsland, N. C. As a remedy for coughs and colds and healer of weak, sore lungs and for preventing pneumonia New Discovery is supreme. 50c and $1.00 at all druggists. Trial bottle free.

How to Cure Liver Trouble

There are usually several ways to do a given thing, but it is the aim with all of us to find the best and shortest way. It is just so in the cure of disease. People suffering from liver trouble imagine that all they have to do is to take some thing that will physic them. There is more than that in the cure of so serious a disorder as liver trouble.

When that drowsy, clogged up feeling comes on you go to a drug store and ask for a 50 cent or $1 bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take a dose or two and watch results. It will not only clean out the bowels and stimulate the liver, but it will get the blood circulating so that you feel active again, and arouse the functions of the stomach so that your appetite returns and you feel like your old self again. A simple laxative or purgative could not do that. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is not only a wonderful laxative but it has tonic properties, so that, unlike so many other things, instead of leaving you weak and drawn it builds you up and strengthens you.

It does not gripe—it acts smoothly, either the intestines so that the passage is smooth and agreeable. It is gentle but effective, pleasant to the taste and pure in quality. It is an excellent, economical Home Care, and its results are permanent. It is absolutely guaranteed to do what is claimed for it.

Use it for occasional or chronic constipation, dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, sour stomach, bloated stomach, flatulency, diarrhea, and the down and one other ills of the stomach, liver and bowels. It is the greatest of household remedies and no family should be without it because in a family someone at any moment may need such a laxative and then you will appreciate having Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in the house.

INDIGESTION.

With its companions, heart burn, flatulence, torpidity of the liver, constipation, palpitation of the heart, poor blood, headache and other nervous symptoms, indigestion, sour stomach, offensive breath and a legion of other ailments, is at once the most widespread and destructive malady among the American people. ATTY GENERAL OF STATE SAYS NO

Metropolis has no Business
Voting on Local Option.

Would Be Nugatory Because Precinct
as Unit Is Dry for Eighteen Months.

COPIES OF LETTERS WRITTEN

The Metropolis Herald reproduces correspondence with the attorney general of Illinois with reference to the right of the city clerk of Metropolis to put the local option question on the official ballots this spring. Following is the correspondence:

State of Illinois, Office of Attorney General, Springfield, W. H. Stead, Attorney General.

March 30, 1908.

Mr. J. F. McCartney, Metropolis, Ill.
Dear Sir: I have your favor of the 28th inst., and note carefully what you say concerning placing the proposition, "Shall this city continue to be anti-saloon territory?" upon the official ballot to be voted at the city election. It appears that the city of Metropolis is situated in a precinct which, at the November election, 1907, became anti-saloon territory. The city itself, however, as a political entity has not voted upon the proposition but, by reason of being situated in anti-saloon territory, the sale of intoxicating liquors within such city is illegal.

Concerning the power of city clerk to place the proposition upon the official ballot at the city election, I will state that in response to an inquiry from the city clerk of your city, I wrote him at length and enclose herewith a copy of such letter.

"Under the facts stated by you, there is no authority for the submission of the proposition 'Shall this city continue to be anti-saloon territory?' to the voters of the city of Metropolis; even though such questions should be submitted, and should carry, yet the vote thereon would be nugatory. The city of Metropolis, by reason of being in an anti-saloon precinct, would continue to be anti-saloon territory until that precinct voted to discontinue its status as anti-saloon territory."

Under the local option act, the petition is not filed, or acted upon by the city council. The city council has nothing whatever to do with papers filed under the provisions of the act.

You ask, "If the clerk does not put the proposition?" (Shall this city continue to be anti-saloon territory?) on the official ballot, is he liable, under the law, to any civil or criminal action?" It follows, from as above stated, that, under the facts stated by you, the city clerk would be fully justified in refusing to place the proposition upon the official ballot.

Yours truly,

W. H. STEAD.

Copy of original letter to Mr. Compton.
Mr. Ed F. Compton, City Clerk, Metropolis, Ill.

Dear Sir: I have your favor of the 24th inst., in which you state that at the election held in November, 1907, the precinct in which the city of Metropolis is situated became anti-saloon territory. You further state that a petition has been filed with you, as city clerk, requesting you to submit the question at the city election on April 21, 1908, "Shall the city of Metropolis continue to be anti-saloon territory?"

You submit the question as to whether or not it is your duty as city clerk to place the said proposition upon the ballot to be voted at the coming city election.

In reply thereto I would state that under the provisions of section 9 of the local option act, the proposition, "Shall this city continue to be anti-saloon territory," can be submitted only in the political sub-division or district, which, at an election held prior thereto, became anti-saloon territory. Under the statement of facts contained in your letter, the precinct in which the city of Metropolis is situated became anti-saloon territory.

By reason of its location in an anti-saloon precinct, the sale of intoxicating liquors is illegal in the city of Metropolis. The city of Metropolis, as a political unit, has not voted to become anti-saloon territory. The precinct in which the city of Metropolis is situated may, at the expiration of the time prescribed by the statute, have the question, "Shall this precinct continue to be anti-saloon territory?" submitted to a vote of the precinct, but the statute does not authorize a city, situated in the precinct, to submit the question as to whether it shall continue to be anti-saloon territory. Under the facts stated, the city must remain anti-saloon territory until the precinct, in which it is situated, votes to discontinue its status as anti-saloon territory.

I am of the opinion, therefore, that, under the statement of facts submitted, you, as city clerk, would be justified in refusing to place the question: "Shall this city continue to be anti-saloon territory?" upon the official ballot. Very respectfully,

W. H. STEAD,
Attorney General.

Weak Heart Action

There are certain nerves that control the action of the heart. When they become weak, the heart action is impaired. Short breath, pain around heart, choking sensation, palpitation, fluttering, feeble or rapid pulse, and other distressing symptoms follow. Dr. Miles Heart Cure is a medicine especially adapted to the needs of these nerves and the muscular structure of the heart itself. It is a strengthening tonic that brings speedy relief. Try it.

ARBOR DAY

ESTABLISHED APRIL 17 IN STATE OF KENTUCKY.

Acting Governor Cox Fixes Date for Planting Trees with Public Ceremonies.

Frankfort, Ky., April 3.—The following Arbor day proclamation was issued by Acting Gov. Cox:
"I, William H. Cox, acting governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, do designate Friday, April 17, as Arbor day."

Tree planting, as is well known, is the object for which this day was established and it is certainly an object that should inspire in itself interest on the part of every public-spirited citizen of this commonwealth. Tree planting is a valuable public improvement, as well as a beautifier. Its neglect by past generations, the devastation and destruction of numerous varieties in mountain forests, as well as of woodland for purposes of private gain, has alarmed the government authorities, who are taking vigorous measures toward adopting practical methods of restoration.

I recommend that Arbor day be considered a holiday in all the schools that the school authorities take this occasion to beautify the grounds about the school buildings by planting trees. The county school superintendents are respectfully requested to publish this proclamation throughout their respective counties, and to encourage the teachers to take an active interest in the day.

I invite the authorities of every city and town in the state to look into the tree question of their respective communities, and to take steps toward the proper observance of the day.

Done at the executive office this first day of April, nineteen hundred and eight.

Witness my hand and the great seal of the commonwealth.

WILLIAM H. COX,
Acting Governor.

Attest: Ben L. Bruner, Secretary of State.

TAFT TALKS ON NEED OF ARMY

Says There are Three Reasons
For Army Force.

Increased Efficiency of Militia Will Relieve Regulars of Duty of Suppressing Local Disorders.

SECRETARY NOW AT COLUMBUS.

Columbus, Ohio, April 3.—Secretary Taft rounded out a busy day here by speaking at the annual dinner of the Columbus Board of Trade. The secretary arrived early this morning, and spent the greater part of the day in conference with A. I. Vorys, manager of his canvass for the presidential nomination, and other prominent Republican leaders of the state. Later, the secretary held an informal reception of Governor Harris and other state officials and candidates on the Republican state ticket who had been called to Columbus by the naming of the Republican state central committee for performing a state organization. In the evening Taft addressed a large audience at the annual dinner of the Columbus board of trade.

Taft said in part, devoting his speech to the army:

"We need an army," he said, "for three purposes; first, as an essential to any satisfactory system of national defense; second, as an indispensable instrument in carrying out our established international policy; third, for the suppression of insurrection and civil strife."

Referring to the Monroe doctrine, Taft said:

"How could we maintain such a doctrine if it should ever be questioned in the strenuous race for trade and for colonization, now that is life among European powers? Could we do it otherwise than by expeditious force to the country invaded for the purpose of assisting local forces in repelling the invader?"

"It is true that our navy, enlarged as it is, would discharge the most useful function in the defense of an invaded country, but it could make but little headway against hostile forces landed therein, and after that the only method of asserting our international policy would be by the use of the army of the United States."

"Of course there is no probability of a recurrence of the great civil war, but should the forces of anarchy and socialism and revolt against organized government manifest themselves, well organized militia would be most necessary. Suppression of local disturbances is the regular army's very unpleasant duty, and it is one to which the president should summon regular troops with great reluctance. An increase in the efficiency of the militia which we may anticipate may well relieve the regular army of any such duty. The moral effect of the regular army, however, to discourage lawlessness is valuable."

"The history of this country since the beginning of the revolutionary war shows that during at least one-fourth of the life of the country, the government has had war on its hands in some parts of its territory. It is, therefore, most unwise to prophesy as to what may happen in this respect in the future."

In support of his argument for a well trained army, Taft declared:

FILIBUSTER IN HOUSE BEGINS

Formal Notice Served on Democrats Yesterday.

An All-Night Session Seemed Imminent at 9 O'Clock—Democrats Using Every Effort to Defeat.

THE MAJORITY'S PROGRAM

Washington, April 3.—Formal notice was served on the Democrats in the house by Payne, of New York, leader of the majority, that from that time on the Republicans would lock horns with the Democrats and carry through a program of the majority, in spite of any attempt of the minority, under the leadership of Williams, of Mississippi, to dictate the character of the legislation to be enacted.

Immediately undertaking to carry this schedule into effect, he forced the latest sitting of the session. Both sides were able to keep their members in their seats and it soon became evident that the threatened Democratic filibuster was on in real earnest, and the Republicans determined to at least test the sincerity of their opponents.

The Democrats, after the passage of the agricultural appropriation bill, had interposed obstructive tactics against any business being done. After several measures had been refused consideration by reason of these tactics, Payne called up a resolution to refer to a committee the president's recent special message to congress. Observing that the Democrats were preparing to place obstruction in the way of its consideration, unless ample time should be given for a general debate, Payne asserted that "because of the hypocrisy of those on the other side," meaning the Democrats, no general debate would be allowed.

Payne denounced the Democratic filibuster begun last Monday in pursuance of the notice given by Williams a week ago, and characterized the action of Williams as "puerile." The Democrats, he contended, were in no position to lay down the program of action for the Republicans.

"The majority," he said, "have charge of the business of the house, and business will go through just as the majority decide it shall go through." Shouts of Republican approval greeted this utterance.

Discussing the president's message, Payne asserted that there never had been any doubt about a new employer's liability law being enacted at this session. He gave notice that he would in the future object to all Democratic requests for unanimous consent or for a time to speak.

The session then became a scene of much excitement as both sides contended for the mastery. Motion after motion was made, amendment followed amendment, roll call succeeded roll call, and every device known to the filibuster was resorted to. Votes recorded were always on party lines, the Republicans being invariably in the majority.

At 9 o'clock last night indications favored an all-night session.

Carrying $11,508,860, the agricultural appropriation bill passed the house late. It had been under discussion nine days and from the time its consideration began until the very end, its provisions were attacked at every turn, with the result that it underwent many changes. Just before its passage, Scott, of Kansas, chairman of the agricultural committee, made an unsuccessful fight to have stricken out the amendment adopted yesterday considerably increasing the appropriation for soil investigations.

During the debate a flurry was created by Harrison, of New York, Democrat, characterizing as socialists the bill of Minority Leader Williams providing for utilization of surplus in construction and improvement of roads in the several states. With the agricultural bill out of the way, the Democrats under the leadership of Williams conducted a successful filibuster against the transaction of any further business.

After forcing thirteen roll calls and exhausting their parliamentary resources in the employment of dilatory tactics, the Democrats found themselves worsted in the struggle, the majority side at 10:09 carrying the motion to adjourn by a vote of 121 to 81.

The Senate.

The legislative session of the senate was largely consumed by discussion, without passage, of the bill to reorganize the public school system of the District of Columbia. The bill relating to the settlement of claims of states on account of the disposition of public lands was taken up, and the Bacon amendment for settling accounts of owners of cotton seized by the government during the civil war, which amounts to $5,000,000.

Hard Times Affects the Emperor of Germany—Income not Sufficient.

Berlin, April 3.—An authentic report is in circulation here that a bill soon will be introduced in the Prussian diet raising the civil list of the emperor. This list now amounts to $2,930,000 a year, which sum is paid the emperor as king of Prussia and not as German emperor, a position, which carries no salary.

The explanation offered for raising the list is the increased cost of living, which bears particularly heavy on the royal house because of a large number of children and other persons dependent upon the purse of the monarch.

In this connection it was learned that the reports that the emperor lived beyond his income and often called upon rich friends for temporary loans are incorrect. On the contrary, his majesty up to several years ago saved each year a considerable sum from his income and invested it for his children.

Kaiser's Revenue is High.

Emperor William's revenue is high in comparison with that of the heads of other countries. In addition to the $3,920,000 mentioned in the cable dispatch (the "Kronentations renten" of the Prussian budget), the reigning house of Prussia has a vast amount of private property, comprising castles, forests and great landed estates, the revenue from which is applied to the expenditure of the court and members of the royal family.

Great Britain's civil list of the king by the civil list act of 1901, is fixed at $2,288,900 ($470,000). In addition to this there are allowances to individual members of the royal family that amount to $1,168,800 ($240,000), making the total for royalty $3,457,700, or about $173,000 less than Emperor William's present income.

France pays her president a salary of $115,800 a year (600,000 francs), and in addition gives him an equal amount for expenses, making his total revenue from the state $231,600 a year.

Roosevelt is Paid $50,000.

The United States pays President Roosevelt $50,000 a year and allows $25,000 a year for "traveling expenses," paid at the discretion of the president. An additional $50,000 is spent on the white house and grounds, making the total allowance for the head of the state and his residence $125,000 a year.

Austria's royal household has an income of $2,293,900 (11,300,000 crowns) from the state a year. The Russian royal revenue is probably greatest of all nations. The annual budgets show about $8,497,500 for "imperial household" purposes, but this probably includes some expenses that other nations charge to administration aside from the royal list.
